Maybe I Am

People always tryin' to bring me down
By tellin' me all their business goin' round
I'd rather look to the good at hand
And if you think that I'm crazy,
Well Maybe I am, Maybe I am

Talk is cheap and pictures worth a thousand words
Even when you're not lookin' they all want to be heard
Shove it in your face, all the evil you can stand
But me I'd rather stick my head in the sand
That's where I am

Don't need you to tell me what I have been missin'
Cept your murder, rape, mayhem, larceny, and ass-kissin'
I'd rather look to the good at hand
And if you think that I'm stickin' my head in the sand
Maybe I am, Maybe I am

The Bible says, "Resist not evil"
Just turn away, it will fall of its own weight
You look at good, you get more of it
But when you look at hate, what you get is more hate
Oh stick your head in the sand, that's where I am

WeII I think I've gotten tired of all this talkin'
I think I'll just go find a nice dune in the sand
You can have the world, keep it rockin'
And if you think that I'm crazy
You betcha life I am

Soul Mate

Of all the souls that I have known
Very few have much to say

They'll spend their lives living alone
Desperately afraid

You shared your soul
You shared your dreams
You let me see the things you fear
And with each word I was amazed
It was me that I could hear

I will always stand by you
No matter where I have to go
Some things are simpler meant to be
That's all I have to know

You've shown more strength than many men
Who raise their fists up to the sky
You've dried my tears and more than that
You have let me see you cry

So I will lay my body down
Next to you on this sweet, sweet ground
And as we're lab' hand in hand
We'll find the strength to stand

I will always stand by you
No matter where I have to go
Some things are simply meant to be
That's all I have to know

Give Em Some Rein

How does a boy become a man
You know you're doin' the best you can
How does he learn that bein' strong's
Not how big you are, but known' right from wrong

How do you teach a star to shine
Do we give our love and step aside
How do we know when to let go
Well some one told me now I know

Give em some rein, give em some lead
You can only plant the seed
You can't keep em from their pain

Give em some rein, give em some lead
If they fall down it's their knees that bleed
Show em how to get up again
Just show em how to get up again

How do we teach a child to live
We've only got one thing to give
To give em eyes to see what's best
To lift them up above the rest

Are we makin' it easier
When we take the hurdles away
Or do we hold back our children
So they have to turn to us and say

Give me some rein, give me some lead
You can only plant the seed
You can't keep me from my pain
Give me some rein, give me some lead
If I fall down it's my knees that bleed
Show me how to get up again
You gotta show em how to get up again
Just show em how to get up again

How does a boy become a man

Baby Listen to Me

He said "Baby listen to me,
I got somethin' to say"
Said it on a Sunday
Callin' from far away

He said "There's somethin' that I gotta do,
And none of it includes you,
So Baby listen to me,
I got something to say."

He said "I met her on a Tuesday not so long ago
I didn't think much of it then, but now I'm needin' to know,
There's somewhere that we've got to meet
Down near Forty-second street,
Oh Baby listen to me, I gotta go."

He said "Baby listen to me."
As I began to cry,
"We're just not made of the same stuff,
You and I.
But I think I felt it startin' to click
The moment I laid eyes on that chick
Now Baby listen to me
This will be good bye."

I wanna think of somethin' clever to say
You know I hate it when words fail me this way
I wanted to sound so polite
But it all just came out trite
I said "Baby listen to me, can't you please just stay?"

He said "Baby listen to me, you'll find somebody new.
Somebody who'll be so much better for you
You know we never really got along
Always fightin' bout what's right and what's wrong
So Baby listen to me, I will always love you,
Baby listen to me, I will always love you."
He said, "Baby listen to me, I, I will always love you"

Some Things in Life

There are some things you can't have
Cause they're not s'posed to be
There are some things you can't have
And one of them is me

Used to think I was the loser
Used to think it was my fault
Used to dream of someone like you
Luckily I woke up

There are some things you can't have
Cause they'll make you crazy
There are some things you can't have
And one of them is me

How does it feel to want me
The way that I wanted you

Is there a hole suckin' you dry
The one you think only I fill?

There are some things you can't have
Cause they're not your destiny
There are some things you can't have
And one of them is me

There's no sense in cryin'
After what others own
If you're runnin' after that, my friend
You'll find you're runnin' all alone

There are some things you can't have
Cause they're not s'posed to be
They're are some things you can't have
And one of them is me

She Can't Go Back

She looks back in the distance
Sees him standin' there
Feels the resistance
She's painfully aware
She can't go back

He looks over the distance
Sees her on her way
Feels the resistance
Knows she wants to stay
She can't go back

It's not a question of love
It's not a matter of time
When you've been there and back
It can not be denied

He knows he can't follow
Feels he must lead
Sees what she's askin'
Does not want to bleed
She can't go back

When you know what you know
What you've seen you can't hide
Not to lead or to follow
But side by side

They are strangely connected
They have been here before
A love resurrected
Deep to the core
They can't go back
No, no, no they can't go back
Well I know that she wants to
But she can't go back
But she can't go back

Where Ever You Go

Don't let me stop you walkin' out that door
One thing I guarantee,
I been here before
You've your agenda, and I've mine too
I've gotten tired of tryin' to fix you

It's not my place to make things right
Your life, your dreams, your will, your fight
I've got my own like the child that came before
So like I said just keep on walkin' out that door

Don't look to me to ease your pain I'm doin' all
I can to keep myself sane
I can love you for exactly who you are
Then it's up to you just how far

It doesn't have to be so bad
It's all in your mind Make a choice, take a stand
You'll be surprised at what you find

Take it easy, take it slow
You've got nowhere else to go
Cause no matter just how far
Where ever you go there you are

So like I said, walk out the door
Yes I know, we've both been here before
Only this time, I don't want to play
You can have it all, your will, your way

The difference is I'll survive
The difference is I will thrive
The difference is this time around
I'm strong enough to let you hit the ground

Take it easy, take it slow
Cause no matter just how far
Where ever you go there you are

Your Heart Had Other Ideas

First time I laid eyes on you
Well I knew that you'd be trouble
I thought that I was strong enough for two
Your heart had other ideas

There was somethin' in the way that you smiled
You thought maybe you could change me
I wanted just to have you by my side
Your heart had other ideas

Yes your heart had other ideas
Somethin' I have grown to fear
Your heart had other ideas

Well you don't really know who or what I am
I've given you the face I save for strangers
But still you love me and you will not let me go
Cause your heart has other ideas

Like a memory I cannot erase
I am haunted by the vision of your face
That look of pain as I say without grace
My heart has other ideas

Well you don't really know who or what I am
I've given you the face I save for strangers

But still you love me and you will not let me go
Your heart has other ideas

Yes your heart had other ideas
Somethin' I have grown to fear
I can't love you baby
The way you want me to
So there is nothin' I can do
When my heart has other
Your heart had other
Your heart had other ideas

All is Well

Have you seen the sun as it stays up in the sky
Do you notice the heavens don't crash down
And the wind as it calls the birds to fly
It's always there

When the moon has reached its place
It doesn't need any glue it hangs on grace
Without a trace of why

Do you think they're tryin' to tell you somethin'
That all is truly well

Do you think the blood pumping in your veins
Is magic?
Do you think that the breath you breathe
Believes in you?

When you close your eyes and forget your fear
Do you fly?
Carried by the wind lookin' down on your life

Well I think its tryin' to tell you somethin'
That all is truly well

When I die I think that I shall fly somewhere
Where the sun and the moon begin their day
When you look for me I will be there in the sky
Shinin' down on you from the stars in your eyes

Yes I think I'm tryin' to tell you something
That all is truly well
I think I'm tryin' to tell you somethin'
That all is truly well

Home

There is no room left in my heart
Its all been filled and overflowing
There is no place for doubt to start
I look at you and there's just knowing

And even though I tried to settle down
Something in my heart had always known
There would be someone who'd come around
Someone I knew would be home

I've walked alone, I've stumbled much
I played around and took my chances
And on the way I've had my share
Of broken dreams and sad romances

And even though I tried to settle down
Something in my heart had always known
There would be someone who'd come around
Someone I knew would be home

When I was young I knew it all
But I forgot and made my choices
Not from my strength from somewhere small
Listening to too many voices

And home is wherever you are with me
Even when I'm very far away
Home is you loving me
I thank you for bringing me home

Yes I am home, I've found my place
You touch my soul every time you touch my face
I'll be your love, I'll be your wife
Until the day we pass away I'll be your life
Till the day we pass away I'll be your life
To the day we pass away I'll be your life
